

Dear St. George Community:

Today, February 15th, 2022, is the deadline for applications to be submitted for the interim Head of School position. I'm excited to announce that we have 16 candidates who have submitted applications for consideration. This strong pool of candidates includes a number of sitting and retired heads of school and senior school administrators, a majority of which are from Episcopal Schools from across the country. Many of the candidates have expressed a distinct interest in the position because of the strength of our community and school leadership and staff.

Over the next few weeks, the interim search committee will be busy evaluating the applications from each of the candidates and scheduling interviews with candidates who the committee feels are a fit for the Interim Head of School position at SGES. In early March, we expect to have a list of final candidates to invite to campus for on-site interviews and visits. The interim search committee expects to make a candidate recommendation to the board for the interim Head of School position sometime in early April.

The board will continue to update the community at least on the 15th of every month. As always we welcome your feedback and comments as we continue the process of finding our next Head of School.

Thank you for your support.

Sincerely,

Lindsay C Blanton III
Chair of the Search Committee
President, Board of Directors
